GREATER DRIVE ON BOOTLEGGERS NOW PREDICTED

Senator Thomas, Oklahoma,
Declares Dry Congress Must Bear the Responsibility

CONTINUED ARGUMENT

House Drys Plan to Demand
Quick Action on Jones
Resolution

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30.—(INS)—The prohibition cauldron boiled over in the capital again today, bringing a prediction from Senator Elmer Thomas, dry Democrat of Oklahoma, that a new scandal is brewing in leaks from the distilleries opened by the Government for the manufacture of medicinal liquor.

The Oklahoma Senator attacked the assaults of Federal enforcement method by declaring a dry Congress must bear a large part of the responsibility for the lax enforcement of the Volstead Act.

Meanwhile Federal enforcement agencies were bustling with activity which presaged a greater drive on bootleggers, and Congressional drys were preparing for a continuation of the controversy on the floor of the Senate and House next week.

The Hoover Law Enforcement Commission was preparing to put the finishing touches on its prohibition report, and House drys planned to demand quick action on the Jones resolution creating a joint congressional committee to study reorganization of the enforcement machinery.

Senator Thomas disapproving both the statement of Senator Borah (R) of Idaho condemning the Federal enforcement personnel and the bill of Senator Sheppard (D) of Texas to punish buyers of liquors, said:

"Since the Volstead Act went into effect, until the last few months, there was no legal manufacture of liquor within the United States. Since that time the government has given permits for opening of five distilleries to manufacture liquor, thus putting the government in the business.

"It occurs to me that the interests complaining of non-enforcement, especially the law makers, might better accomplish their purpose by repealing that part of the Volstead Act permitting the making of liquor.

"It just opens up another avenue for graft in the dispensing of liquor. There is bound to be liquor stolen and embezzled from these distilleries running with government permits; they are just another source of supply. The Government is making whiskey to please disreputable dispensaries and drug stores of not high standard which deal in it. To furnish liquor for disreputable stores and doctors is a farce. I contend, if there is any medicinal value in liquor it comes from alcohol, and therefore it is not necessary to make whiskey.

"The government, too, is ordering the manufacture of different kinds of liquor, such as rye and Scotch, for the purpose of pleasing the palate."

Thomas announced he would support a movement for greater appropriations and more enforcement agents and asserted "it is well known that Secretary Mellon is not in sympathy with the Volstead Act and we will never have better enforcement so long as he is the head."

He doesn't believe the Sheppard bill to penalize buyers will accomplish anything. Continuing he said:

"In localities where the people do not want the law enforced it is not and cannot be. Where the law is unpopular and people make wine and beer in their own homes or use it personally, you can't get a jury to convict someone for doing something they do."

"People get the kind of enforcement they want. The only thing to do is to try to enlarge the areas where people want it enforced. I think there are too many in the prohibition service for what they can get out of it."

Anticipating the law enforcement commission will report the Federal courts of the country are overburdened, some congressional drys are studying proposals to create prohibition commissioners under Federal judges and give them limited jurisdictions.

These commissioners, under the plan, would handle the "small fellow," leaving the big violators for the district court itself.

PAID MUCH IN WAGES

Bucks County produced industrial products valued at $47,306,300 in 1928, according to figures made public today by the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg.

The total number of employees engaged is given as 10,316 and the total amount of the wages and salary was $12,301,800 while the capital invested amounted to $25,861,600.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—(PENN.)—The second largest industrial State in the Union and one of the steel and textile centers of the world, turned out industrial products in 1928 valued at $7,331,985,990 according to a compilation made by the Bureau of Statistics of the Pennsylvania Department of Internal Affairs and made public today by Secretary of Internal Affairs James F. Woodward. The tabulations on industry in the state as a whole mark the completion of separate surveys in each of the counties.

In 1927 industrial products in the Keystone State had a value of $7,311,655,600, the year 1928 showing a slight increase.

Records filed with the Department of Internal Affairs, according to Secretary Woodward indicate that some industries showed decreased production valuations in 1928 when compared with 1927, corresponding decreases in the number of employees and compensation resulting. During 1928 industry gave employment to 1,339,392 persons while in 1927 the total number of employees was 1,444,728. Wages and salaries paid in 1928 amounted to $2,034,367,500 as compared with $2,095,625,800 in 1927.

Industrial employees last year included 1,237,970 wage workers and 161,332 salaried employees. Among the wage earners were 916,265 Americans, white, 46,836 Americans colored and 274,869 foreigners. There were 994,476 male wage workers and 243,494 female wage employees who were paid wages amounting to $1,623,187,000, the male wage workers receiving $1,440,767,800 while female wage employees were paid $182,419,200. Salaried employees in industry in 1928 were paid $411,180,500. A total of 120,826 males and 40,506 females occupied salaried positions in industry last year.

Pennsylvania had a total of 19,764 industrial establishments in 1928 and the various plants were operated by 8,731 corporations, 2,966 partnerships and 8,127 individuals.

The vast army of industrial workers in the Commonwealth last year contained a comparative small percentage of wage workers under 16 years. Records filed by the various establishments indicate that only 4,393 males and 8,403 females under 16 years of age were employed in Pennsylvania.

Industry in the state last year represented an invested capital of $5,251,351,600 as compared with an invested capital in 1927 of $5,455,916,600. Electricity played an important part in industry in 1928, the survey of the state indicating that the primary horsepower in the industrial establishments reached 8,283,811. Industrial plants used a total of 423,513 electric motors representing 6,637,591 horsepower.

The Keystone State, home of some of the world's largest metal plants turned out metals and metal products valued at $3,024,934,200 last year, primary metals being worth $1,237,880,800 and secondary metals being valued at $1,787,053,400. URGES THE LEGION TO BACK LAW ENFORCEMENT

General Smedley D. Butler
Asks That Organization
Take Definite Stand

ADDRESSES MEMBERS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 30.—(INS)—With the declaration that if the crime wave continues, one-half of the country's population will be serving in the jury box as judges of the guilt or innocence of the other half, General Smedley D. Butler, battle-scarred veteran of Marine campaigns in many foreign lands, today was on record as urging the American Legion to take a definite stand on the side of law enforcement.

In an address before the annual banquet of the Middletown Post of the American Legion, General Butler justified the oft-disputed intervention of the Marines in foreign countries by declaring his belief that "God made us the most influential nation in the world for a purpose and that it is our duty to keep our neighboring nations from murdering one another."

The blunt-spoken soldier, whose remarks in Pittsburgh recently concerning the Nicaraguan elections made him the target of criticism in Washington, was not specific as to what measures should be taken to shatter the present crime wave. He welcomed the opportunity of paying tribute to the uniformed policeman on his beat, however, characterizing the guardian of law and order as "the most harassed and brow-beaten public officer."

FORD TO INTRODUCE NEW BODIES TOMORROW

Roomier Interiors and Variety of New Colors Are Announced

ARE EAGERLY AWAITED

DETROIT, Dec. 30.—New Ford bodies, with added beauty of line, roomier interiors and a variety of new colors and color combinations, will be introduced throughout the United States by the Ford Motor Company tomorrow, Edsel B. Ford, president of the Ford Company, announced today.

This is the first statement by the Ford Company of the specific reason for the recent temporary shut-downs of branch plants for the purpose of making changes in machinery and plant equipment.

Introduction of the new bodies comes on the heels of two recent significant announcements by the Ford Company—a general reduction in prices of all types in the Model A line, and a wage increase throughout the Ford plants in the United States, which steps up the minimum wage from six to seven dollars per day.

"Since the Model A was first introduced, it has constantly been made a better car," said Mr. Ford, in announcing the new line of bodies. "As soon as improvements have been developed and tested, they have been built into cars in production and immediately passed on to the public. That process goes steadily on in the Ford plants. This policy of constant improvement is now given still further expression in the new bodies to be presented by dealers throughout the United States, beginning tomorrow morning."

It is stated that the new bodies are to have a number of conspicuous features, not the least of which will be gracefully sweeping lines and proportions usually associated only with custom coachwork, rather than mass production. Polished rustless steel will make its appearance in lamps, radiator shell, hub caps and cow finish strip. Colors that have not been before in the Ford line will accentuate these new developments of the body builder's art. Fenders more generous in proportion and with an added sweep of line will make their contribution to the trimness and smartness of the car, and a lower and sleeker appearance will be immediately apparent.

Complete details of the changes made in Model A bodies were not given by the Ford Motor Company today. It was stated, however, that no change will be made in the prices of the various types.

FOUR IN ROADSTER DRIVE OFF WHARF INTO THE RIVER

None of the Group Suffers
Beyond Severe Drenching
At Early Morning Hour

GOT LOST IN HEAVY FOG

Four Were Riding on Front Seat of Roadster When Accident Occurred

Four Philadelphians, all riding in the front seat of a roadster, drove off the Mill street wharf, early yesterday morning, during the heavy fog which hung over the river section. None of the four were injured and suffered little except for a cold bath.

The four: Elmer Shiffler, 17, 3053 Collimer street, Philadelphia. Thomas L. Ralph, Jr., 19, 4546 Hurley street, Philadelphia. Albert Foley, 3452 A street, Philadelphia. Robert Carman, 2816 Boudinot street, Philadelphia.

The accident occurred at about 3:30 yesterday morning. The quartette, all of whom were taken by Officers Ferry and Betts to the Harriman Hospital, were discharged from that institution later during the day.

The four, while telling conflicting stories as to the time they left Philadelphia, apparently were enroute to Trenton. They turned off the Highway at Mill street and none of the party saw the blinker at Mill and Radcliffe streets nor, according to their own stories, noticed the light at the Mill street wharf.

Officer Ferry, patrolling Mill street, had his attention attracted by the cries of "help" and he ran down Mill street. As he reached the intersection of Radcliffe and Mill streets he saw four men running up the hill, leading from the river.

Ralph, owner of the car, was at the wheel, and while the roadster had a rumble seat, all of the occupants of the machine were seated in the front at the time of the accident.

Shiffler, as the car went off the wharf, pushed his way through the top and jumped into the river. He swam ashore. Foley got out of the side of the machine, as did the others, and they were all assisted ashore by Shiffler.

The group met in Philadelphia and started out for a ride, intending to visit a relative of one of the four, who resides in Trenton.

The committee in charge of this meeting is composed of: Mrs. James Cullen, chairlady; Mrs. Rathke, Mrs. Willard Wilson and Mrs. Fechtenberg.

STATE POLICE RAID LOWER BUCKS PLACES

Alleged Proprietors from Tullytown and South Langhorne Are Held

SECOND TIME FOR SOME

In a raid upon an alleged speakeasy at the rear of a butcher shop at Tullytown, John DiCiccio, said to be the proprietor, was arrested on a charge of possessing liquor. His place of business is located on Main street in that town. A second raid occurred at South Langhorne.

State police from Morrisville, assisted by Constable Andrew Thompson, discovered between two and three gallons of alleged liquor in the kitchen and upstairs. The liquids were of several colors. Corporal Daniel Dean and State Trooper Keich were in the raiding party.

DiCiccio was held for action upon the accusation by the Bucks County Grand Jury. Bail was set at $1,000 by Justice of the Peace Nolan, of Morrisville.

For the second time within 10 days the saloon property of Chris Cockett, just off the Lincoln Highway at South Langhorne, was searched. On the previous visit nothing was found, but this inspection disclosed a half barrel of reputed beer in addition to part of another half barrel on tap.

Cockett was also held in $1,000 bail on a possession charge to await grand jury action. According to the authorities, numerous complaints against his place were received prior to the descent upon the premises. State Trooper Beynon joined Corporal Dean and Trooper Keich and Constable Thompson for the surprise visit.

FIVE WIVES SUE FOR DIVORCES IN COUNTY COURT

Desertion, Cruel and Barbarous Treatment Are Alleged Against Husbands

DAMAGE SUIT IS FILED

Abe Laveson, of Phila., Starts
Action Against Warner P.
Roberts and Wife, Yardley

DOYLESTOWN, Dec. 30.—Five new divorce suits and four damage suits were filed in the Court of Common Pleas of Bucks county. All of the divorce suits were started by wives.

Desertion is the grounds named in the divorce action started by Victoria W. Barnes, of Perkasie, against Samuel A. Barnes, of 2541 East Clearfield street, Philadelphia. They were married on January 6, 1910, in Philadelphia, and the desertion took place four years ago.

Divorce action has been started by Hazel W. Hockman, of Doylestown, against Paul L. Hockman, of Doylestown. She charges her husband criminally in this action. They were married here in 1925.

Cruel and barbarous treatment is the grounds cited for a divorce started by Elizabeth G. Knox, of Bensalem township, against William M. Knox, of Tippecanoe City, Ohio. They were married in Fredericksburg, Va., in 1925. Mrs. Knox charges her husband with beating her, choking her and striking her with his fists.

Desertion alleged to have occurred in March, this year, is named as grounds for divorce proceedings started by Elsa Smith, of Quakertown, against Earl H. Smith, of Quakertown. They were married in Baltimore in 1927.

Madeline M. Mather, of Tullytown, has started a divorce action against Ferdinand S. Mather, of Falls township, whom she married in Tullytown in 1926. The desertion, it is alleged, occurred in January, 1928.

Charles B. Deshler, of 49 Warren avenue, Roselle Park, N. J., and Mrs. Clara E. Deshler, his wife, have filed two suits in the Court of Common Pleas asking $13,000 damages from Robert K. Todd, of 394 Penn avenue, North Glenside. The plaintiffs allege they were injured in an automobile collision caused by the defendant on July 21, this year, on the Lackawanna Trail near Harrow.

Henry E. Mills Dies As Result of Convulsions

YORK, Pa., Dec. 30.—When December ushered in the big game hunting season, John Koons, of this city, waxed exceedingly glad. Koons, be it known, is an ardent nirod, and his son also is an enthusiastic hunter.

Koons and his son set out with other members of a deer-hunting club for Caledonia. From this point they separated into the woods. The Koons's tramped and shot all day but failed to bring down a buck.

Just as darkness was falling and they were turning their weary steps toward home, they saw a large buck. There were only two shots left in their ammunition belts.

The buck was contentedly munching away when John blazed away. Nothing happened. The deer was interested but went on eating. John's son took careful aim and fired. Again nothing happened.

John, his enthusiasm in no wise dampened, is back at his home waiting for the opening of the 1930 season when he intends to "go back and get that buck."

GOOD RISKS
Scatterbrained, irresponsible, aimless college youth has been found responsible and trustworthy to a high degree, proving that it is wrong and dangerous to judge a man by the pranks and follies of his school days.
In seven years the Harmon Foundation has loaned $500,000 to 3138 boys who needed financial aid to complete their education. None of these loans were secured, except by the personal credit and honor of the youthful borrower, yet the foundation has yet to find a bad investment. The borrowers used the money to good advantage and are repaying their loans as rapidly as possible.
Trustees of this worthy foundation should not have been surprised by result of the survey revealing that among the beneficiaries of the fund the preachers, doctors, dentists and lawyers, while good risks, are the slowest pay. Most of these young professional men have nearly as much need for capital during the four years after graduation as during their undergraduate years. All the foundation needs is patience.
It is gratifying to run across these little proofs that whole classes of American citizens are as good as gold with a word as good as their bond. It behooves everyone to maintain the traditions of his class.
ON TRAIL OF A SCOUT
Dog lovers, especially those of that host who have lost pets through that dread canine disease distemper, hear with deepest satisfaction the news that scientists have isolated the germ which makes ferocious beasts of once gentle dogs and hope soon to have a cure for the disease.
In undertaking to discover the cause of rabies the Field Distemper Research Fund recognized the great importance of the work. Millions of dollars are invested in dogs and millions of human hearts are devoted to dogs. And there is the ever present menace to society of the dog made mad by rabies.
But the scientists, when they launched upon their expedition of exploration for the rabies germ, could not have known that they were to happen upon a tiny organism whose destructiveness extends beyond just the canine branch of the animal kingdom to the plant kingdom and even to man himself.
A British cancer expert expects to connect cancer with the rabies or one of its near relations, and several of the more destructive plant disease have already been traced to these minute culprits.
The discovery of the germ which causes a disease does not, unfortunately, guarantee a sure cure. To obtain a cure the experts must find something which will kill the germ or make its victims immune from its attacks. But the history of medical science has shown that the fight is half won once the source of the trouble is located.
Once again will the dog prove himself "man's best friend" if it is through this faithful companion of humankind that science discovers the cause of and cure for cancer.

ECHOES OF THE PAST
ITEMS OF INTEREST AS CLIPPED FROM NEWSPAPER FILES

Of unusual interest was an account of the meeting of General U. S. Grant and ex-Sheriff John T. Simpson, of Doylestown, which was published in "The Intelligencer" under date of Saturday, December 13, 1879. It was while the former sheriff of Bucks county was in the employ of a railroad company that he met the General. The train on which Sheriff Simpson was working ran from Washington to New York. One evening the train pulled out of Washington and soon after leaving that city Simpson started to collect the tickets. Eventually he came to a man who seemed to be sleeping. He passed him and gathered the tickets from the remainder of the passengers and then returned to the man who was sleeping. The former sheriff shook the sleeping passenger, who upon awakening from his slumbers, requested to be informed in what section of the county he was. He was told he was in the vicinity of Tullytown, Bucks county. Upon receiving this information the passenger seemed interested and informed Mr. Simpson he had distant relatives in the county and added that his mother at one time lived over the Montgomery county line. He also told Mr. Simpson that his mother's maiden name was Simpson. In a few moments Mr. Simpson discovered he was speaking with none other than General Ulysses S. Grant. During the conversation which followed the two were unable to trace any relationship. The General claimed to be related to the McKinstry, the Houghs and the Weirs, all residents of Bucks county.

It was fifty years ago that a movement was on foot to start a natural history society in Bucks county. A room in the Court House was procured for the arrangement and preservation of curiosities and specimens of various kinds. Persons favoring such an organization were requested to communicate with Colonel W. W. H. Davis, Doylestown.

The mansion house erected at Lumberville in 1815 by William and Joseph Dilworth and at that time considered the finest building in that part of the country fifty years ago was undergoing great improvements which were being made by the owner, Jacob Fretz. There was a bit of interesting history connected with this house. Many years ago when the chimney-sweeping business was at its height one of the black, grimy, little urchins who did the work nearly lost his life in a narrow chimney in this house. Forced by a severe master to climb up the chimney, the boy became wedged so that it was impossible for him to move either way. A hole was cut into the chimney through the attic wall which proved too high and it was necessary to cut another hole from a room below the attic. The little fellow had been imprisoned almost all the day and was almost dead from suffocation when removed.

Considerable excitement was created in the upper part of Bucks county when a fine deer made its appearance and many an old hunter was heard to say: "If I only had a gun." The deer,

ANOTHER QUICK VICTORY SCORED BY NEW KONJOLA

Stomach Trouble and Neuritis of Long Standing Yielded Quickly to New and Different Medicine

MRS. EUGENE MILLER
"Konjola has made me feel like a different woman," said Mrs. Eugene Miller, R. R. No. 4, Allentown, Pa. "I had neuritis for the past four years, causing me terrible pain in my back, shoulders and hips. The pains would be so severe that I could not lie in bed at times. Also, I had a disordered stomach. Everything I ate seemed to turn gas. The gas settled around my heart and sometimes it felt as though it would stop my breathing. I spent dollar after dollar trying to find something that would relieve those troubles, but began to think I never would get results.
"But Konjola gave me wonderful results. I am able to sleep all night through and suffer no pains at all. I eat everything that I want, and gas never forms in my stomach. Pains around my heart and shortness of breath are things of the past."
Konjola is sold in Bristol at Hoffman's Cut Rate store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout the entire section. (Adv.)

however, did not give the men time to get their guns. After leaving Springtown and passing Pleasant Valley he disappeared in the ravines in Haycock. It was believed the deer had been driven south from the Poconos by the hunters and their dogs.

According to this publication, there were a number of applicants for the position of supervisor of the census of the fourth district of Penna., which included Bucks, Montgomery, Lehigh, Northampton and Carbon counties. Among the Bucks county applicants were: E. G. Harrison, Hulmeville; Joseph G. Preston, Solebury, and Samuel Geil, Doylestown.

William P. Lovett, who for a number of years was postmaster at Yardville and who owned a store at that place, was a half century ago making preparations to dispose of his property in order to move to Trenton, where he proposed engaging in the cracker business.

Entering the cellar of the drug store belonging to William H. Sands, Newtown, thieves succeeded in getting away with two demijohns of whiskey. Both the thieves and the remaining whiskey were found some time after the robbery. The thieves were removed to the county prison at Doylestown. People attending the churches in Newtown were also much annoyed in finding their buffalo robes, blankets and whips had been stolen while they were at worship. It was not believed the persons stealing the whiskey were involved in the thefts at the churches.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Dec. 30.—James M. Keating, warden of the Westmoreland County Jail, recently welcomed to the county boarding house one Olaf Alexander, charged with transporting liquor.

But when Keating placed Alexander in a cell he was confronted with a problem that would tax the scientific convolutions of a Newton or an Einstein.

The problem consists of what to do with those portions of Olaf's pedal exremities that persist in dangling over the edge of the prison cot.

We almost forgot to mention that Olaf is 6 feet, 6 inches tall and weighs 258 pounds.

History records that George Washington dearly loved his home at Mount Vernon. In this he set an example that is worthy.

Statesmen to this day, all appreciate the basic value of home ownership and home influences.

The United States government has passed many laws favorable to "building and loan" associations because ours is the country's leading service in making home ownership possible for average families.

ADDING NEW BEAUTY TO OUTSTANDING PERFORMANCE

New Ford bodies, in beautiful new colors, will be displayed tomorrow
by Ford dealers

THE Model A Ford was a good car when it was first introduced. It has constantly been made a better car. As soon as improvements are found and tested they are passed on to the public. That work goes steadily on.

Now comes the time when another forward step can be taken and this policy of constant improvement given still further expression. Tomorrow, a new line of Ford bodies will be displayed by Ford dealers.

The introduction of these new Ford bodies is of interest to every motorist. In flowing grace of line and contour—in the carefully planned harmony of every detail of design—they set a new high standard for a low-priced car.

A new, fresh beauty has thus been placed within the means of every one.

All of these new Ford bodies are finished in a variety of beautiful colors, with bright Rustless Steel head lamps, radiator shell, hub caps, tail lamp and cowl finish strip. All have roomy interiors. All bring you the safety, comfort, power, speed, acceleration, ease of control, economy and long-lived reliability that have given the Model A Ford such a high place in the regard of millions of motorists.

SET apart a little while tomorrow to see these new Ford bodies. You will be particularly interested in the manner in which new beauty has been added to outstanding performance. In appearance, as in mechanical construction, craftsmanship has been put into mass production.

Further details and illustrations of the new Ford bodies will appear tomorrow in this newspaper.
